Netherlands Received Data From Petersen

Think Dutch Acted In Good Faith

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. and Dutch governments confirmed Tuesday that The Netherlands was the country which received information from Joseph S. Petersen Jr., who is accused of "improperly taking" secret defense documents.

But officials expressed belief the Dutch had acted in good faith. And at The Hague, a high Dutch official said the Netherlands had obtained information from Petersen under the impression he was authorized to give it out.

The Netherlands Embassy here also said its government had "exchanged" information with Petersen, a $7,700-a-year research analyst with the ultrasecret National Security Agency. He was fired from that job several weeks ago.

The official statements, confirming an earlier report, were issued shortly before a federal grand jury in nearby Alexandria, Va., recessed for the second straight day without deciding whether to indict Petersen.

Until today the Justice Department and the FBI had steadfastly refused to name the nation involved in the charge that Petersen obtained government documents and information on national defense "with intent or reason to believe" it would be used to injure the United States, or to the advantage of a foreign nation.

A Defense Department statement said the United States "has no reason to question the good faith of the Netherlands government, which has been demonstrated by that government's cooperation during the investigatory period."

The government added that it "must affirm that the activities of the American citizen involved in this case were completely unauthorized by his government and were carried out under his own personal responsibility without the knowledge of his superiors and in violation of the laws of the United States."

The informant who first identified the Netherlands as the country involved said the case grew out of Petersen's friendship with a high-ranking Dutch general who served in Washington during World War II after the Dutch lost Java to the Japanese. The general was not identified.

The informant said only friendship was involved and Petersen is not accused of any financial transaction in connection with the case.

Lone Bandit Robs Nebraska Bank Of $50,000

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—A steel-nerved bandit with a western drawl and squeaking cowboy boots slipped into the First State Bank with employees coming to work Tuesday and staged a $50,000 robbery.

He fled in a bank bookkeeper's car and hours later was still on the loose.

Carrying a big canvas bag, the holdup man appeared from the shadows of a stairwell when Mrs. Dorothy Fox opened the back door of the bank.

"Keep quiet and don't make any wild moves," he told her as he drew a pistol and followed her into the building.

For 45 minutes he held Mrs. Fox and five other employees under the muzzle of a sawed-off shotgun, he took from his bag, while waiting for the vault's time-lock to operate. Once inside, he also donned a rubber full-face halloween mask.

When a girl bookkeeper screamed and fled out of the back door, the unruffled gunman reminded her: "That wasn't a very smart thing to do, young lady." Gesturing with his gun, he ordered her back inside.

The blinds on the bank's big front windows were open, and the gunman, who appeared to be about 30 years old, could watch passers-by on their way to work. Reflections on the windows kept the outsiders from seeing in.

"Go ahead and smoke," he told his prisoners, volunteering to go get cigarettes from another room for Mrs. Fox.

When the time lock opened the vault, the bandit gave Cashier Dale Adams the canvas bag and told him to fill it up, drawing: "Leave the ones till last."

Then he looked the six employees in the vault and fled through the back door.

FTC Accuses 17 Health Insurance Companies Of Misrepresentation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government accused 17 of the nation's health, hospital and accident insurance companies Tuesday of misrepresenting benefits they offer millions of customers.

Chairman Edward F. Howrey of the Federal Trade Commission announced the complaints charging "false and misleading advertising." He said that in a 10-month inquiry of nearly 900 other health and accident insurance companies, the FTC has found hundreds of similar practices and will file additional complaints.

Italy's Democrats, Communists Fight: Session Breaks Up

ROME (AP)—Italy's Chamber of Deputies broke up in a fist-swinging brawl Tuesday night as Christian Democrats and Communists called each other "fascist."

The outburst forced temporary suspension of the session which had been drawing near a vote of confidence on Italy's settlement with Yugoslavia of the Trieste dispute. The Senate has already passed a similar vote.

Shrieking "scoundrels," "idiots," "madmen" and "sons of dogs," the angry Communists left poured from their seats and struggled to reach the center benches.

Chamber President Giovanni Gronchi shouted for order, then blasted on his whistle which brought a stream of husky ushers down the aisle to forcibly hold the Communists back.

The disorder broke out when Christian Democrat Deputy Giuseppe Togni denounced the Communists as "subjects of a nation which is not Italy and to laws not made in Rome." Communists shrieked "fascist" at him and he yelled "fascist" right back.

As the disorder grew, the chamber president ordered public galleries and the diplomatic gallery cleared.

Dulles Leaves For Paris Hoping For Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles left for Paris Tuesday cautiously hopeful that France will agree in a series of meetings beginning Wednesday to decisive action on arming West Germany as a full-fledged partner in the Atlantic alliance.

Dulles said there are "many difficult problems" to be solved in working out the package deal under which West Germany will soon begin forming a dozen divisions. But he declared that these problems can be solved provided European leaders tackle them with a spirit of cooperation and "a sense of high responsibility."

The conferences will build up into a decisive meeting of North Atlantic Council members on Friday.

Dulles promised that the United States will give "sympathetic and responsive" attention to whatever action the Europeans take for strengthening their own unity and power.

Report Doucet Quadruplets Have Good Chance To Live

BATHURST, N.B. (AP)—Nurses on "round-the-clock shifts" hovered over the Doucet quadruplets Tuesday and doctors said the three girls and a boy had "a good chance of survival."

Mrs. Lawrence Doucet, 24, 98-pound wife of a truck driver, gave birth to the quadruplets Tuesday at 10 p.m. Monday while five doctors stood by. X-rays had indicated the multiple birth.

Dr. C. H. Johnson, the Hotel Dieu Hospital's attending gynecologist, said "there was nothing complicated about the birth."

"We had a good team working and there's a good chance for survival."

The infants, still unnamed and not yet weighed for fear of hindering their early progress, were placed in incubators. Doctors said they would remain there perhaps until early Wednesday. They won't be allowed to go home for at least a month.

Doucet, 42, and slightly built, has driven a department-store truck for 17 years except for World War II service as an army sergeant.

At news of the quads' arrival, the Bathurst outskirts.

Vishinsky Accuses U.S. Of Aggression Against Formosa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Assembly Steering Committee decisively rejected Soviet demands Tuesday for immediate debate on American air and sea activity around Formosa and the ocean off the Red China mainland.

It voted 12-2 to postpone the question for 14 days after new and bitter exchanges in the committee between U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russia and Czechoslovakia voted against the delay.

Lodge said the United States is willing and ready to put the question on the Assembly work program or to postpone it—whatever the rest of the committee wanted. But he asked the committee whether Russian attack on the United States didn't mask another Communist aggression in the making.

France's Henri Hoppenot, supporting the delay move, hinted mysteriously that in a fortnight "events in Europe or here" might have taken a turn that will influence Vishinsky not to press his point. He did not explain what he meant although Vishinsky asked him to.

Vishinsky voiced Russian charges, as well as Red China accusations, that the United States was guilty of aggression against Formosa, which he called an integral part of China, and against Red mainland China.

In support of his demand for an "Assembly review of what he called 'de facto control of Formosa'" by the United States, he claimed U.S. planes were guilty of 7,632 violations of mainland China.

T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China delegate, said he would vote against putting the question on the agenda because U.S. relations with his country could not be classed as aggression.

'Doesn't Consort With Smear Artists,' Meek

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph T. Meek, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, said Tuesday "I have not given any money to the publishing of documents referred to by my opponent as a smear."

He told a meeting of GOP women volunteers that "Nothing issued by my office is a smear. I do not consort with smear artists."

Meek's campaign organization was accused Monday by Michael Howlett, campaign manager of Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas, of ordering inaccurate information on Douglas' former membership in organizations which have been designated as subversive by congressional committees and the attorney general.

Howlett said Douglas had "never even heard of many" of the organizations to which Douglas belongs or did belong.

"I did not make this record," Meek said. "It is my opponent's record. He either has been or is markedly interested in organization of strange intent, or else he is remarkably easy as a dupe for high pressure membership salesmen."

"On either score, his record as a joiner does not recommend him as a man for high office."

Meek also issued a statement anticipating a speech by Adlai E. Stevenson Tuesday night at Rock Island on Douglas' behalf.

He said Stevenson "may cast sly aspersions at Joe Meek," but will not refer to the times that Stevenson, as Illinois governor, asked help of Meek and other lobbyists "to help make his administration look good."

"May I remind Mr. Stevenson that he, too, is a lobbyist," Meek said.

"Currently, he is manfully and I fear, unsuccessfully, lobbying for nomination as the Democratic standard bearer."

"He pleads his cause eloquently, and for the most part, fairly, which is the procedure of all good lobbyists. But his wares, I am afraid, will prove undesirable."

Meek said also that Douglas "uses his government offices for quite extensive lobbying purpose."

Meek termed Douglas an errand boy for the CIO and the Americans for Democratic Action.

SENTENCED FOR DRAFT EVASION

CHICAGO (AP)—Michaelangelo Alongi, 21, of Rockford, Tuesday was sentenced to two years in federal prison on a charge of refusing to submit to the draft.

Alongi's defense was that he is an ordained minister of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect and therefore was exempt from military service.

In imposing sentence, Federal Judge Win G. Knoch told Alongi: "People who find themselves in conflict with the law must remember that they enjoy the benefits of this country x x x. They must also bear the duties, obligations and responsibilities of citizenship."

One of these is military service."

Sign Pact To End British Occupation Of Suez Zone

Name Educator, Dixon To Replace Rep. Stringfellow

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A state educator made a tardy entrance into Utah congressional election campaign Tuesday because "we can't teach citizenship and then when the demand comes for service back out."

Dr. Henry Aldon Dixon, 64, president of Utah State Agricultural College, was nominated Monday night to replace Rep. Douglas R. Stringfellow as the Republican nominee from the 1st Congressional District.

Stringfellow, running for reelection to a second term, resigned his candidacy after admitting he had fabricated stories that had pictured him as a war hero. He is a disabled veteran of World War II, injured in a mine field explosion.

COP Inherited Security Risks From Demos: Nixon

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vice President Nixon said Tuesday night that all but one of more than 150 former State Department employees listed as security risks on grounds of subversive associations or sexual perversion were "inherited from the Acheson regime."

"The other one was a 90-day temporary employee who lost his job the moment that his security check was completed," he said in a speech prepared for a GOP campaign finance dinner.

The Republican National Committee paid for televising the address on a Philadelphia station and for filmed telecast over eight stations in New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Dean Acheson was secretary of state during the administration of former President Harry S. Truman.

Nixon struck out sharply at what he said were "inspired stories" to the effect that a great majority of the 6,926 alleged security risks which the administration says were removed from the government payroll from May 1953 through last June "were hired by this administration, and not by the Truman administration."

He said a "letting slip" also tried to create the impression that the offenses of those discharged were inconsequential, and that Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell "compared them to traffic ticket violators."

To answer that he listed—without names or the agencies involved—the cases of seven former employees "inherited from the previous administration" who he said were active in the Communist Party and its affairs.

Nixon took pains to say several times that most government employees are completely loyal, but he said "one individual of doubtful security on the federal payroll is one too many."

Report Progress In Saar Settlement

PARIS (AP)—French officials Tuesday night reported some progress was made toward solving the status of the Saar valley. The report came after six hours of conference between Premier Pierre Mendes-France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The two statesmen ranged over problems standing in the way of West German sovereignty and rearmament.

A communiqué issued by the French said in connection with the Saar dispute:

"Some progress was accomplished in the course of this first exchange of views which will be followed by other conversations in the course of the present week as the work of experts advances."

Tuesday's conference was the curtain raiser for a series of big power meetings designed to bring West Germany into a strengthened Brussels alliance and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Saar is the important issue because the French will not act on German rearmament until some agreement on the Saar valley is reached. The French wish to retain the economic union with the steel and coal-rich Saar. The Germans maintain the valley is part of Germany and want at least greater freedom of trade between Germany and the area. It belonged to Germany before World War II.

Ives Claims Harriman Guard Involved In New York Dock Scandal In 1930

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives, in a statewide television speech Tuesday night, accused Averell Harriman, his Democratic-Liberal opponent for the governorship, of being involved in a $250,000 New York waterfront scandal in 1930.

Ives asked his listeners to decide whether Harriman "is fit to be governor of New York."

Ives had broken off an upstate campaign tour to make the television address, which he said would reveal "a startling and shocking situation."

Ives said that a shipping company in which Harriman had an interest had paid out the $250,000 to a law clerk in the office of a Brooklyn judge to obtain a lease on docks controlled by Tammany Hall.

Ives said that Harriman at the time asserted he knew nothing whatever about the deal.

"I tell you that you can't trust the goodness of the state to a man who says he didn't know what happened to a quarter of a million dollars of his own company's money paid to a corrupt judge," Ives said.

"The important thing is not whether Harriman told the truth or whether he didn't. The important thing is that you can be sure that if he is elected, Tammany Hall will make away with everything in the state except the steps of the state capital."

He said the judge in question was named Vaise and that he was sent to prison for six years in another case.

Apparently the judge to whom Ives referred was W. Bernard Vaise, who was sentenced on July 30, 1930, to six years for conspiracy and use of the mails to defraud in connection with the Columbia Finance Corp. case.

Ives said the story "goes back to the 1920's when the Tammany Hall grafters were riding at their very highest."

Congregational Church Moderator Calls For Merger

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—A moderator of the Congregational Christian Church General Council called Tuesday night for support of a merger of the church with the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The moderator, Dr. Albert Buckner Coe of Boston, urged completion of the merger by 1957.

Members of the executive committees of the general councils of both churches voted in Cleveland last week for the merger. A general synod for the organization of a United Church of Christ from the two sects is planned for 1957.

Dr. Coe asked members of the Congregational church to work toward the merger by organizing joint evangelistic programs, joint stewardship programs and the exchange of speakers with a view to preparing the churches for the final merger.

"Speaking as a Congregational Christian," he said, "we are assured that our churches, entering the United Church will (a) keep their present names, and we hope with United Church appended."

"(b) own and control their own property; (c) call their own ministers and (d) write our own statements of faith."

Defense Claims Sex Is Hub Of Case Against Sheppard

CLEVELAND (AP)—The defense heately charged Tuesday that a love affair with Miss Hayes, 24, sex in the person of pretty, young Susan Hayes is the heart of the murder case against Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

"Some people consider a sexual crime or sex deviation even worse than murder," said defense Atty. William J. Corrigan in an argument over his examination of prospective jurors.

However, Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin disagreed and told the lawyer:

"Sam Sheppard murdered Marilyn Sheppard, that's the principal question. We're not trying anyone for any sex offense here."

(Inflection of the judge's voice indicated he intended the first sentence as an inquiry rather than a statement of fact.)

"Oh, yes we are," replied Corrigan, his voice rising.

Sheppard, 30, is on trial for his life. He is accused of bludgeoning his blonde, pregnant wife, Mary, to death July 4 after

Guard Involved In New York Against Violence

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Under close security guard, British and Egyptian diplomats Tuesday night signed a historic treaty to end Britain's occupation of the Suez Canal zone within 20 months. A proclamation held Egyptian police and armed forces in a state of alert after alleged agents of Communists and the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood had stoned and wrecked two buses near Cairo.

Officials said the alerting proclamation was merely precautionary. They explained the incident that prompted it occurred at a youth rally held in the Giza area near the Great Pyramid to celebrate the end of 72 years of British military activity in Egypt. A few persons were reported injured and several were arrested for questioning.

The treaty calling for withdrawal of the 83,000 British troops was signed by the Egyptian Premier, Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, whose army coup dethroned King Farouk Aug. 26, 1952, and Anthony Nutting, British minister of state.

Tuesday night's ceremony climaxed months of hard bargaining. The signing came 12 weeks after agreement was reached in principle on the broad terms. These include the right of the British to return to the base at any time within the next seven years if an outside power attacks Turkey or any Arab state. The two countries will decide during the seventh year whether they want to extend the treaty.

The treaty also provides for the withdrawal of British troops from the Suez Canal zone and the Sinai Peninsula. It also provides for the withdrawal of British troops from the Sudan and the Sudanese Sudan.

Dock Workers Strike In London Spreads To Hull

LONDON (AP)—British dock workers spread their crippling strike to the big North Sea port of Hull Tuesday night in defiance of an implied government threat to have troops unload ships.

The mushrooming 16-day walk-out—swollen by wildcat sympathy strikes and joined by the Communists—is holding up 200 million dollars worth of imports and exports and has posed a serious threat to Britain's whole economy.

Half of Britain's 76,000 dockers and workers allied with the industry are idle. The vast port of London has been closed down as has Birkenhead. Liverpool has been crippled.

But in the main Atlantic port of Southampton, the dock workers rejected overwhelmingly Tuesday night a demand to join the strike.

The decision was made at a meeting near the port as the world's largest liner, the Queen Elizabeth, lay docked stern first ready for scheduled departure Thursday for New York with the Queen Mother Elizabeth aboard. The big ship moved in backward so as to be able to get out more easily without help in case of a strike.

Dr. Bettag summarized at a news conference a 57-page report of his investigators into conditions at the state hospital.

Bettag Reports Evidence Of Waste At Peoria Hospital

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Dr. Otto L. Bettag reported today an investigation uncovered evidence of "widespread inefficiency, waste and other malfeasance" at Peoria State Hospital.

However, said Dr. Bettag, director of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare, there were no findings of political kickbacks or job selling.

Of 155 recommended corrections, he declared, 137 have been effected and plans to meet the remainder are under way.

Delegate Doubts Soviet Sincerity In Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—An American delegate told the U.N. Tuesday "we in the United States suspect the Soviet Union of planning world conquest behind their facade of disarmament statements."

Ambassador James H. Wadsworth made the statement in the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee with reference to Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky' recent speeches in the disarmament debate. The Soviet bloc termed the speeches conciliatory.

Wadsworth said the Soviet position was unchanged on what he called the all-important question of the powers of any international control organ that might be set up to watch out for violation of any ultimate disarmament treaty.

"We fail to see," the American delegate asserted, "why the U.S.S.R. objects to thorough and effective international control if the United States, Britain, France and all the rest of us are willing to subject ourselves to it, what has the Soviet to fear? Are we to assume that she has something to hide something she doesn't want the world to know?"

Wadsworth gave strong backing to a resolution put before the committee by Canada, Britain, France and the United States. The resolution calls for new secret talks among those four powers and the Soviet Union sitting as a subcommittee of the disarmament commission.

Members of the executive committees of the general councils of both churches voted in Cleveland last week for the merger. A general synod for the organization of a United Church of Christ from the two sects is planned for 1957.

FRANCE AND THE LONDON PACT

The family of free nations may look with considerable though somewhat reserved satisfaction upon the French Parliament's endorsement of German rearmament as provided in the so-called London Pact.

Any joy that may be felt over this event must be put on leash, for the French thus far have endorsed only the principles of the rearmament plan. Final approval must await the drafting of specific treaty details, which were not worked out at London.

That such approval might not necessarily be automatic could be gathered from the fact that several French lawmakers, including Premier Mendes-France himself, put forth new conditions and concessions they would like to obtain before accepting the final arrangement.

Recalling the long period of French backing and filling over the ill-fated EDC project, one can only shudder at the thought they may insist on important reservations to this new pact.

Nevertheless, the Assembly support of Mendes-France on this set of principles already represents a definite advance beyond the most forward stage ever attained on EDC.

The premier himself played a major role in the preparation of the pact, and he had the courage to stake the life of his government on it at this time. Evidently French confidence in him was a large factor in winning support at long last for the idea of German rearmament.

Even the French Socialists, long a handicap in any efforts to deal realistically with European defense problems, swung behind the premier. Ironically, though, the popular Republicans and some others who backed EDC withheld their backing this time on the ground the London agreement doesn't go far enough toward European unity.

It is to be hoped that when the pact is reduced to treaty terms the premier will be able to hold the support he now has and gain additionally these groups which find the agreement somewhat disappointing. Certainly the latter must see its value as a step down the right path.

The premier will be wisely advised to spend his time between now and the final treaty test in full effort to hold and build stronger his winning combination in the Assembly.

Any contrary course, any concentration on crippling reservations that might doom the pact with other nations, would expose France once and for all as unfit to play any significant role in its own or Europe's defense. By now the French should surely understand that fact.

The World Today

By ED CREAGH
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON #—One reporter's opinion: President Eisenhower will not run for a second term.

This is climbing out on a long limb. What the voters do Nov. 2—whether they give the Republicans another two years in control of Congress—could have a lot to do with making up the President's mind.

Unless, that is, he already has made it up. This reporter's impression is that he has.

Mind you, this is only an impression—an educated hunch at best. The only man who can say with certainty what's in the President's mind is the President himself. And following well-established practice, he's keeping his thoughts on this question very much to himself.

So any forecast that is more than idle crystal gazing must be based on (1) what the President's attitude seems to be, as well as newsmen covering his activities can determine it; and (2) what the people around him think he will do.

It is from these sources that this reporter, who sometimes covers the White House, has formed the impression Eisenhower will not run again—always barring some unforeseen factor.

James B. Reston wrote in the New York Times recently that in his opinion it is doubtful the President will agree to run. Reston quoted an unnamed close associate of the President's as telling him: "The one thing that really makes his eyes light up is talk of his farm in Gettysburg."

Others have told this reporter much the same thing. And I've been able to watch the President inspect the almost completed remodeling job on his Pennsylvania farmhouse.

It was hard to avoid the impression that here was a man lovingly planning a home his first real home in many a year that he meant to live in and not just retire to on weekends.

Another strong impression is that while Eisenhower is determined to do a good job as president, he still doesn't like the job and still less does he like the party politics and some of the political games that go with it.

There is fairly general agreement among those in daily contact with the President that, if his personal wishes were all that counted, he'd be delighted to say farewell to the White House in January 1957.

But it's taken for granted there will be tremendous pressure from the Republicans to persuade Eisenhower, their first successful candidate for the presidency since 1928, to run again. And there are many who feel this pressure, which would include appeals to patriotism and duty, would be too strong to resist.

The argument also is put forward that if the Democrats win control of Congress next month Eisenhower might want to run again—to seek "vindication."

Maybe the President could argue that (1) he has done his duty by putting in four years as president on top of an unparalleled military career; (2) the bulk of his legislative program was enacted in his first two years; and (3) if the people want Democrats in office they can darned well have Democrats in office, and he'll go home to Gettysburg.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD #—Some actors live to act and act to live. Such a man is Dewey Martin. Dewey is 31, from Kamekney, Tex., stocky, powerfully built, a Navy veteran. He likes to act. He's getting good at it, and the full roles are beginning to come his way.

"That's one of the best parts about it," he says. "I must have tried out for two dozen pictures at Paramount in my time. I've been up for three Alan Ladd pictures and turned down every time. Now they've signed me to star with Humphrey Bogart and Fredric March in 'The Desperate Hours.' It gives you a good feeling."

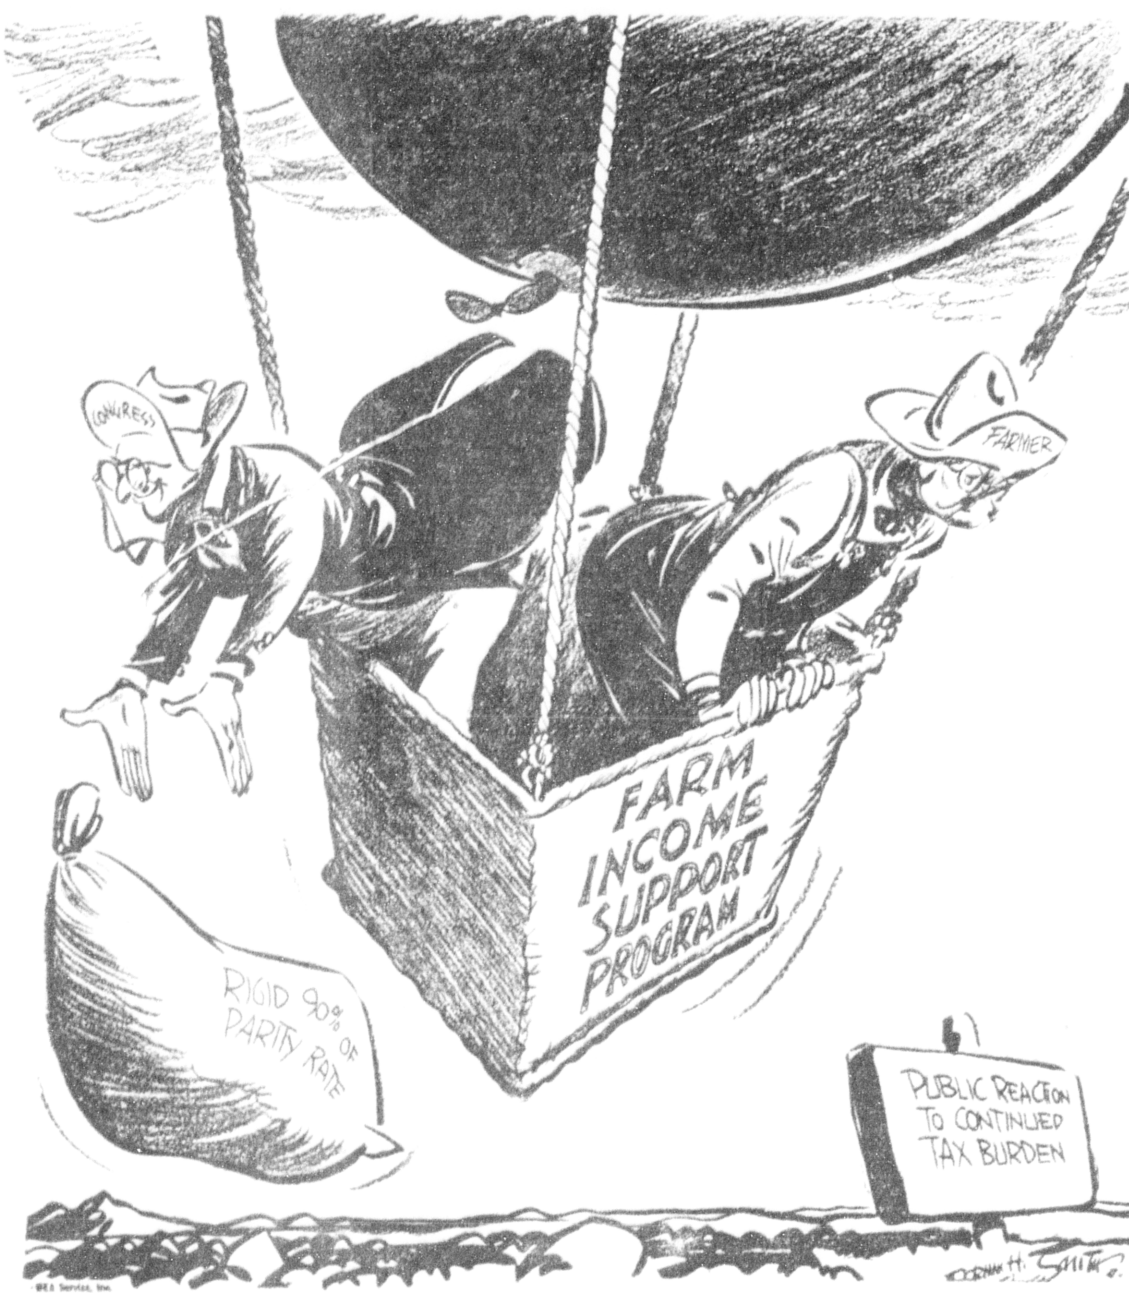

Dewey's wife didn't share his feeling about his career, and that's why their marriage hit the rocks. "She didn't like Hollywood or anything about it," he explained. Dewey is rugged, self-confident and perhaps just a little bit bitter. Says he: "I'm in good shape, because I'm the only guy in town who can play the kind of role John Garfield used to—not that I look like him."

Despite his denial, he does look a bit like the late Garfield. Hand, some, maybe, but with the same sharp-featured features and unruly black hair. I agree that he's got the stuff to make a top star. I've thought so ever since I saw him in "The Big Sky."

The problem of hypertension or high blood pressure is one of the most serious facing the medical profession today. High blood pressure cannot be considered as a single specific disease since there are several varieties since the outlook varies from person to person, and since the management for each individual must be chosen with great care. In some cases the origin can be pretty well identified but in others the cause cannot be traced or is not known and this largest group of all is commonly known as essential hypertension, however, some recent developments in treatment offer a good deal of assistance. For example, some patients have been given a diet from which not only the sodium contained in salt is removed, but most of the sodium in the other foods.

The Low Sodium diet is rather complicated to prepare and is not too tasty, but good results in bringing about a drop in blood pressure have been reported. This treatment certainly will not answer the entire question of hypertension, but at least the use of "low salt, low sodium" diets in certain cases is valuable. The so-called rice diet is one of these low-sodium diets.

An operation called sympathectomy, in which certain nerves are cut, is valuable. The so-called rice diet is one of these low-sodium diets. An operation called sympathectomy in which certain nerves in the back near the spine are cut has also been used. After these nerves are severed the blood vessels expand and are able to carry more blood and blood pressure is lowered. This form of treatment has now been in use for selected patients for a good many years and seems to be of real value. It is not suitable for all patients with hypertension.

In addition to these measures there is a drug known as hydralazine which is quite useful in the control of the symptoms of some of those afflicted with essential hypertension. Most recently a preparation obtained from the roof of a plant known as Rauwolfia Serpentina has been introduced. In certain kinds of hypertension the results seem favorable but like other methods available today it almost surely is not the final answer.

One form of essential hypertension is known as malignant because in a few weeks or months it may progress so rapidly as to cause irreparable damage. In this variety of high blood pressure the most active measures are necessary without the least delay.

Test Data Show H-Bomb Not as Powerful as Reported

BY DAUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON #—(NEA)—More conservative reports from the recent Pacific hydrogen bomb tests are now beginning to trickle out of the Atomic Energy Commission.

This has always happened. Careful study of the mass of test data reveals that blasts are far less powerful than the first, semi-hysterical accounts indicate.

The hydrogen bomb the U. S. has would not destroy Milwaukee if exploded over Chicago. It would not "wipe out" a big metropolitan city. It would not kill everyone within a 60-mile radius of ground zero.

The first toned-down, really reliable estimates of the H-bomb's destructive power come from two recent reports which were painstakingly reviewed by the Atomic Energy Commission before being approved. One is in the form of a speech given by Dr. John C. Bugher, director of AEC's division of biology and medicine.

The other is an article appearing in the current issue of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists by Harold A. Knapp, a civil defense expert. In addition to minimizing the effects of the American H-bomb, he debunks the stories that the Russians have built bigger H-bombs than the U. S. is having.

"A PRUDENT PESSIMISM IS that by 1957 the Russians should be assumed capable of producing a bomb with as much explosive force as that reported for one of our 1954 tests, 10 to 16 megatons."

One megaton is the equivalent to the explosive force of 1,000,000 tons of TNT.

Knapp projects the effects that an H-bomb blast would have on a suburban community nine miles from the center of town, which he presumes would be ground zero.

"Until the latter part of 1956, when assumptions indicate bombs with yields of five megatons," he writes, "residents will be reasonably safe if they take shelter in basements or at least away from windows and doors." He adds:

"There would probably not be any fatal injuries from blast, although flying glass might cause many lacerations, and persons looking in the direction of the blast might be blinded from the flash for several entire years."

hours. There would be little danger of direct ignition of the wood siding of houses."

EVEN WHEN THE RUSSIANS might have an H-bomb as big as the ones exploded last spring in the Pacific, he still believes it would be advisable for residents to stay in their homes during an attack, even if they have plenty of warning.

"But to do so would require special shelter," he claims. "Something as simple as a foxhole would be adequate if it were located so that blown-over trees would not fall into it," he reasons.

An attack of 18-megaton H-bombs, without warning, would kill about 10 to 15 per cent of all persons with three times that many nonfatally injured, he predicts.

These figures are nothing to make the average suburban resident complacent. But they are far less frightening than the estimates of H-bomb damage being dished out by semiofficial spokesmen right after the Pacific tests.

ONE OF THE MOST encouraging predictions Knapp makes is that by the middle of next year there will be an hour of advance warning of attack, due to improved radar lines. With this warning, even if Russian bombs would reach 24-megaton size, suburbanites would have ample time to drive out of the lethal area in cars, or even to ride a bicycle to a safe place. That's if orderly evacuation plans went into effect, he points out.

Dr. Bugher's report tends to minimize the danger of radiation death from nuclear weapon attack. Danger from flying debris is the most serious, he claims. "Material such as glass, which may be easily fragmented and readily accelerated to high velocities, may be anticipated to be a great source of injury from blast," he says.

Ever since the Pacific tests there have been widely circulated reports that dangerous amounts of radiation have accumulated in the upper atmosphere. He says:

"The average exposure from this cause to the people of the United States from the fallout of the entire series of tests this past spring was substantially less than 10 per cent of that accepted as permissible for continuous exposure over an entire year."

Lavish Show of Money Won't Buy Popularity for Child

The first day of school a bunch of junior highers were bug-eyed because a new ninth grader had driven to school in his own baby-blue Cadillac convertible.

Three weeks later when someone in the same crowd mentioned his name, the teen-ager's verdict was "What a drip."

So the big, flashy car didn't do what his parents presumably hoped it would, buy their son's popularity at school.

In fact, their foolish indulgence had the opposite effect.

NOBODY LIKES A SHOW-OFF. What ninth grader could help but play the part of a show-off when allowed to drive up to school in his own expensive car when the other kids in junior high were coming to school on foot, by bus, on bicycles or in car pools—driven by a parent? And what group of teen-agers ever tolerated a show-off?

What spoiled teen-ager used to having his parents try to smooth his way for him by always seeing that he had everything he wanted—everything they dreamed up for him would have bothered to learn how to get along with others?

One thing parents can't buy with money is honest popularity for their children. Better clothes and more of them, a bigger house, more spending money, more parties, etc., don't fool other kids for long.

They know a kid can have everything that money can buy—and still be a drip.

It is only foolish parents who don't realize it.

If the earth retained its present shape and turned one revolution in 35 minutes instead of 24 hours, objects at the Equator would have no weight because of centrifugal force.

'I'm Not Bad' Says Boy Who Pointed Gun To Save Dog

MONROE, La. (AP)—Judge Howell Heard was scheduled to announce Wednesday what will be done with 10-year-old Joe Cooper, the boy who aimed a shotgun at his school principal to save a pet dog.

Joe is in Louisiana Training Institute, where the judge committed him on the day of the incident.

"I'll forget all that's happened some day," Joe said in an interview with the Monroe News-Star and Morning News Monday, "but it'll take a long time."

He added tearfully, "If I hadn't gone and got that gun I wouldn't be here, and a lot of people must think I'm bad after reading what I did."

"Honest," he said, "mama was gone and that's all I knew to do. I'm not bad."

"When I get out, I want my dog, Tippiie," and to go back to school. I'm going to study real hard and make real good grades."

Joe's second hearing before Judge Heard came after letters, telegrams and phone calls protesting the speed with which the boy's case was handled.

The youngster is the son of a widow, whose only income is a $55 state aid check each month.

Tippiie followed Joe to school early this month and school authorities took the dog away to be vaccinated. Thinking the dog would be killed, Joe used a loaded shotgun in his demands for Tippiie's release.

Tippiie later was vaccinated and returned home.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
President Tubman of Liberia, now visiting the United States, thinks powers like the United States and Britain should get over the idea that the problems of under-developed countries are theirs alone to solve.

Nationalism among the big powers, he says, prevents them from seeing some of the wrongs in themselves and rights in others.

"If the smaller nations that are in the majority were given an opportunity to express themselves they might be able to advance some suggestions that may be helpful."

He thinks the Western Powers place too much emphasis on the efforts of the Communists to subvert national independence movements to their own purposes. This he says, should not be permitted to obscure "one of the fundamental and far-reaching developments of the present century," the unremitting demand for independence by the heretofore subject or under-developed peoples.

That is one of the great problems of the time.

The world's experience, with Indonesia, for instance, has not been a happy one, nor is India pursuing what the west considers the best course.

In such times as these, with a great power standing ready to grab off every stray, where does the balance lie between the various independence movements and the community interest?

The trouble with a lot of independence movements is that people want to stand alone when they are incapable of it. Belgium and Holland and Norway, highly developed countries, and certainly independent, have learned that lesson within this century.

Says Jet Split, Probably Hurdled All Into Space

LONDON (AP)—A public Court of Inquiry heard today that two British crashed Comet jet airliners broke open under pressure with the passengers probably being hurled into space within the twinkling of an eye.

Sir Lionel Heald, appearing for the Crown said British aviation experts ruled out sabotage as a cause of the two crashes in the Mediterranean this year.

He told the court's opening session investigations pointed to "a sudden disruption of the pressure cabin" in the planes that most likely occurred when the aircraft reached maximum height imposing the greatest stresses on the cabin pressure system.

One Comet crashed in the sea off Elba Jan. 10 killing 35. A second went into the sea off Naples April 8 with the loss of 21. Both aircraft had taken off from Rome shortly before the accidents.

The crashes brought on the grounding of all Comets.

There was no indication at the hearing that the jet powered passenger planes would be back in commercial operation any time in the foreseeable future.

Here's the 3-Way Bonus

that's sweeping Buick to record sales in October!

BUICK BONUS

Record-making Allowance in October

One look at the national sales figures tells you this. Buick is outselling every other car in America—regardless of price class—except two of the "low-priced three." And just to keep sales soaring—we're willing to give a whole lot of allowance this month—to keep success rolling in high. So come in—get a car and a deal that are too good to pass.

BUICK BONUS

Higher Resale Value

Year after year, Buicks have always carried a high resale value. But the 1954 Buick has an even bigger edge in its year-ahead styling. It will still be fresh and new-looking when other '55 models come out. So the new Buick you buy today will keep you plenty of dollars ahead when you trade it in.

BUICK BONUS

Tomorrow's Styling Today

You can see it on every new Buick on the road—glamorous new-day styling keynoted by that broad panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955 or later. And with this advanced styling, you get Buick's record-famed high V8 power, luxurious room and comfort, that famed Million Dollar Ride—and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Result: Buick is now outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three!"

The spectacular 200 hp Buick Century—America's highest-horsepower-per-dollar car—and priced next to Buick's lowest.

WILL YOUR CAR GO SOUTH FOR THE WINTER?

If you are going to drive around in a tropical paradise from now until next June there is no reason why you should pay any attention to the following suggestions: Your car needs special preparation for winter just as much as you need a furnace fire, an overcoat, and all the other special equipment for freezing temperatures, ice, snow, slush and storm.

It will not only save you much money but assure safety and comfort on the road if you will now—without further delay—have your car checked over and prepared for the cold months ahead.

Most of our repair business all winter is on cars that were neglected in October. Owners could have saved about 90% of those bills by doing the obvious things before winter really arrived.

What are you going to do about it? Yes, indeed, we have everything necessary—this is a really up-to-date motor car maintenance establishment. Drive in any time.

"I WON'T go to sleep," Nancy said, yawning widely. "I started at the swimming pool. I went up on the diving platform. It looked so much higher from the top, I decided to come back down the ladder. When I turned around, I saw into the cave where the creek goes in, I saw the path, Jim."

"And you immediately decided that might be a quick way to get to The Spires?"

"Not right away. But I got a little bored waiting for you. And that silly business of getting Mrs. Gelstrap into a bathing suit. Anyway you told me to be careful, so I simply had to be careful."

"Of course you did," Jim said. Either the sarcasm was lost on Nancy or completely ignored. "Being careful was the reason I didn't go into the cavern from this end. If anyone had been watching it might not have been such a good idea. And, after all, if the creek bed was used as a way to get to The Spires, there'd have to be an opening at the other end."

"That I can understand," Jim admitted.

"So I told everyone I was going to walk along to meet you. I walked around by the road and down to where the creek comes out, there by The Spires."

"Didn't you see the deputy?"

"I saw some man go past in an old car."

"Wasn't Miss Wister's car still parked there?"

"Yes. All locked up though. Anyway, I started wading upstream. And Jim, I left your gun on a flat rock. I didn't want it to get all wet."

"I saw it. That's the reason I knew where you'd gone."

She reached out for his hand, held it. "I didn't have any trouble ducking under the first wall and into a large sort of cave room. There was a candle burning there, Jim. A huge candle. One of those that'd burn for days and days."

JIM remembered his impression of light, just before something hit his head.

"I was glad of the light at first," Nancy went on. "I thought it was cheery, at first. And I saw the doll."

"Doll?"

"Don't yell so," Nancy complained. "Yes, there was a doll there. A big doll. It had had yellow hair once, but most of that had fallen out. And Jim, someone had ripped the doll's body open, pinned it back together with safety pins. I guess that was so they could put the money, the letter and the diamond bracelet inside." Nancy yawned sleepily.

"Twenty thousand dollars," Nancy said. "I had plenty of time to count it. The bracelet probably cost seven or eight thousand. You know, Jim, I've never seen a thousand-dollar bill before."

"Married to a detective, you probably won't again."

"I got scared, Jim. I—well, I guess you'll say it's silly. But the doll was lying down when I found it. It seemed to have been tossed where it was. The eyes were closed. Jim, I was reading the letter when I got that feeling someone was watching me. I looked around and the doll's eyes were open. Oh, I know you'll say I moved the doll, and I did of course. But it frightened me."

Jim. Maybe it was because I felt guilty about reading the letter anyway. The parts of it I could read. Water hadn't done it any good, Jim."

Dunn fought down his impa-

did it say?"

"It was from Angelica's husband," Nancy said slowly. "I can't remember all the words, but I can give you its sense. It said he didn't, still didn't, approve of what Angelica was doing. He had a bad feeling about it, but anything she wanted to do was all right with him. He—he loves—loved her, Jim. And he wanted to know how soon she'd come back to him, how soon she would be able to collect the money she felt was due her. He said he didn't want the money, Jim. He—he wanted Angelica."

Jim Dunn drew in a deep breath. Pieces clicked into place. Angelica's actions in returning to the Carlsens were explained clearly now. Her husband's career had been injured. Angelica intended to retrieve losses. Certainly, as a Carlson woman, she had had training along certain lines. Sure evidence of that lay in the $20,000, amassed somehow from the Carlsens in the period of one year. Certainly it explained Angelica's desperate attempts to regain the doll.

"Finally I got up nerve enough to try ducking through the upstream hole. I figured I couldn't be too far from the upper opening. There—there were round stones in the way. They moved a little when I pushed at them, but I couldn't get through the opening. I climbed back out of the water in that candlelit hole, along with the doll. I decided finally I'd go back the way I'd come. And then, I thought I saw something. Some horrible thing was coming up through the water. I—I threw a rock at it and it went away."

JIM'S fingers strayed to the lump on his head in an unconscious gesture. He did not realize what he had done until he saw Nancy's horrified and stricken look of understanding.

"Jim, it wasn't you—"

"James Horrible Thing Dunn," he admitted. "You throw too straight. And, for a damsel in distress, I must say you were unappreciative."

BIGGEST SQUEEZE—"Biggest piece of machinery ever built" is the distinction claimed for this 50,000-ton press being assembled for the Aluminum Co. of America plant in Cleveland, Ohio. The 50,000 refers to pressure, not weight. The press actually will weigh 4,000 tons. It extends higher in the air than a seven-story building and goes almost four stories below ground level. It is marvelously accurate. Billets of metal weighing two or three tons can be put into the dies and the press will shape them to dimensions accurate to less than 1/32 of an inch. A building which covers 12 acres of ground had to be erected to house this huge machine and another, 35,000-ton one. The entire project will cost $40,000,000.

The steel industry has published a guide book on the basic organization and training required to defend industries against possible enemy air attack. Included in the manual are instructions on how to put out fires quickly as well as the fastest way to subdue agents bent on sabotage. Other subjects covered are the rescue of trapped workers and quick removal from bombed areas. If the time comes, industry will be ready.

All-Stars Battle Pros In Annual Chicago Classic

CHICAGO (AP)—A squad of a dozen leading basketball players of the 1953-54 college season will try to crack the four-year domination of the pros in the 15th annual all-star game at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The collectors' opponents will be the Minneapolis Lakers, National Basketball Assn., champions. The pros have won the last four games and hold an 8-6 margin in the series.

The all-star game is sponsored by the Chicago American.

Coaches of the squad are Ray Meyer of DePaul and George Ireland of Loyola of Chicago.

The squad: Bob Pettit, Louisiana State; Bev Francis, Rio Grande; Frank Ramsey, Kentucky; Frank Selvy, Furman; Johnny Kerr, Illinois.

Eugene Shue, Maryland; Dick Rosenthal, Notre Dame; Cliff Hagan, Kentucky; Bob Leonard, Indiana; Tago Palazzi, Holy Cross; Tom Marshall, Western Kentucky; and Joe Bertrand, Notre Dame.

Title At Stake In CCI Battles

WHEATON, Illinois—The College Conference of Illinois' most important weekend features two rivalry games—Lake Forest (3-0) at Wheaton (2-1) and Millikin (1-1) at Wheaton (2-0)—and championship chances are at stake.

Darkhorse Ill. Wesleyan leaped into prominence with a Titan-led upset of defending titlist Wheaton, 9-7, and now will have to beat off dangerous Millikin in the 40th clash of downstate foes. Halfback Gino Cantele of Cicero will duel the Big Blue Frank Chivsky of Newton for the league rushing lead (see statistics). Wesleyan's all-around-classmen line outcharged Wheaton and averaged 215 across the tackles.

Undefeated Lake Forest will march two talented Waikuan newsmen, quarterback Bob Rayvans, 180, and halfback Harvey Ricks, 156, behind a 206-pound line to try and spoil Wheaton's Homecoming. The Crusaders are anxious to get back in contention for the title and are resting Dave Burnham of Akron, O., in hopes the prized quarterback will recover from a sprained ankle. Dick Helm of Tuscola and George Dryden of Wheaton are hard-running scabbacks. Wheaton will be the closest to full strength since opening day and the Foresters, who lost 23-13 to Wheaton last year but hold an overall 9-7 advantage, welcome captain-halfback Bob Burns of Lake Forest back to the lineup.

There will be only one cellar-dweller after Elmhurst and Augustana meet at Rock Island. The Vikings, who have been a disappointment with three successive lopsided setbacks, hope to get One Rostick of Whitehall, Mich., back in action. Elmhurst relies on the passing combination of Ed Bodman Granite City to Pat Lira of Elmhurst.

North Central tests the latest CCI addition, Carroll of Waukegan, Wis., in a non-league game at the Pioneers' homecoming.

IIAC Race Looms As Battle Between 2 Michigan Teams

MACOMB, Ill.—Play in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference is far from over, but already it looks like a race to the wire between the two Michigan entries—Central and Normal.

Both schools are living up to pre-season expectations. They are unscathed upon and own 2-0 marks. Central Michigan, out to retain the loop title, rolled over Southern last week, 33-0, while Michigan Normal trounced Northern Illinois Teachers, 34-0.

The two machines collide Nov. 13 at Mt. Pleasant, home of Central, and that engagement could decide the conference champion.

Western Illinois, however, may have a word to say about title aspirations. It's Homecoming this weekend at Macomb, and Central Michigan furnishes the opposition in what is expected to be the Chip's toughest test to date.

The Western aggregation, disappointed by last week's 13-13 deadlock with Illinois Normal, and realizing that a tie in the IIAC is as good as a loss, will be out to stay in the running.

Coach Wes Stevens indicated he intends to make some changes in the Leatherneck forward wall. The line played well defensively against the Redbirds, but failed to open holes for its own backs.

Western's chances of halting the Chippewa juggernaut depend on two factors—stopping speedy Jim Podoley and the return to action of ailing regulars. Podoley, who tops the conference and the nation in rushing honors, is averaging about 14.5 yards per try. Last week, playing in the rain against Southern, he car-

NEW YORK (AP)—Outfielders Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Orestes (Minnie) Minofo of the Chicago White Sox, a pair of powerful right-handed hitters, Tuesday were crowned the Major League slugging kings for 1954.

Mays, returning from a two-year Army hitch to spark the Giants to the world championship, topped the National League with a lustrous 667 slugging average. Minofo, in his fourth season in the majors, was the American League leader with .535.

Statistics compiled by the Associated Press revealed that Mays accumulated 377 total bases in 566 at bats. Slugging averages are computed by dividing a player's number of times at bat into his total bases.

Mays, who also led his league in batting, delivered 195 hits, including 33 doubles, 13 triples, most in the league, and 41 home runs.

Minofo, runnerup to Cleveland's Bobby Avila in the American League batting race, produced 304 total bases in 568 trips. The speedy Cuban collected 29 doubles, 18 triples, most in the league and 19 homers among his 182 hits.

In 1953 Minofo finished sixth in the AL slugging derby with .466. Al Rosen of the Indians captured the title with .613, but he slipped to third in 1954.

Brooklyn's Duke Snider trailed Mays for National League slugging supremacy with a .647 average and Big Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Redlegs ranked third at .639.

Snider amassed 378 total bases, most in both circuits, in 584 at bats. Kluszewski, the major league home run pacesetter with 49, accounted for 366 total bases in 573 trips.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals wound up fourth in the slugging ratings with a .607 mark, as a result at 359 T.B.'s in 591 times at bat. Musial boasts the highest lifetime slugging percentage in the National League, .584.

Mathews held down fifth in the slugging listings with .601, followed by Brooklyn's Gil Hodges, .577 and Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs, .563.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees trailed Minofo in the American League slugging parade with 284 total bases in 543 at bats for a .523 average. Mantle's collection of 163 hits included 16 doubles, 12 triples and 27 home runs.

Rosen was next with .506, achieved on 236 total bases in 466 trips. Among his 140 hits were 20 doubles, two triples and 24 homers.

Washington's Mickey Vernon, runnerup in 1953, fell to fourth at .492 and Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees finished fifth with .468. Larry Doby of the Cleveland Indians followed with .483 and their cagey another Yankee, Irv Noren, at .479.

red 91 yards and scored three TD's.

Hank Sale and Dale Pailey, mainstays in the Leatherneck line, are out with injuries and may not play. Fullback Bob DeVries and halfback Ted Mullin are also questionable starters.

The Hurons of Michigan Normal make the long trip Saturday when they travel to Carbondale and a game with winless Southern. One of the nation's unbeaten eleven, the Hurons, paced by the aerials of quarterback Bob Middlekuff, have a 5-0 record. Middlekuff completed a 10 against Northern.

The Salukis' haven't won a game this year, but they have looked more impressive after each contest. They were able to hold the Central Michigan attack to 220 yards rushing, something that hadn't been done before. Southern partisans claim that an upset can't be regarded.

Northern Illinois and Illinois Normal take the field Saturday at Normal in what shapes up as an even game. Normal has a dependable backfield in Rob Rigenback, who tied the Western game with a 99 yard kickoff return in the final canto. Wes Bair, Redbird passer, could be hot.

Coach George Evans' huskies will be out to redress last week's loss to Michigan Normal. Evans counts on the romps of Billy Graham and the aerial bolts of Ron Hicks.

At Charleston, Eastern Illinois State, fresh after a week's rest, will seek its first win of the season against Navy Pier of Chicago. Tired of serving as punching bag for conference schools and non-loop foes, the Panthers are fired up and "rain" to go against the Chicago team.

FAN BREEZES

BY BILL MERRIS

This Friday night's Homecoming game for the Routt Rockets could very well decide the P.M.B.C. Conference title. Smarjesse's crew take on the highly touted Bluffs Blue-jays, who have never lost an eight-man game. The hillman coach, Bluffs team will be seeking its 12th straight conference game and its fifth of the year.

As the conference now stands, the Bluejays look like the team to beat and if Routt is going to win the crown they will have to come through Friday and defeat the boys from Scott County, Virginia, the third place team, which one defeat to go with four wins so they too are very much in the running.

Harold Graves

A Bluffs victory will give the Bluejays at least a tie for the crown with only Virginia standing in their way. On the other hand a Rocket loss will just about put them out of the running. The Bluffs team, sparked by senior Harold Graves, has scored a total of 157 points so far this season while holding its opposition to 6. The only team to score against them was Chapin.

Graves is leading the team with a total of 13 touchdowns and has an amazing average of 8 yards per try from the line of scrimmage. His running mate Fred Barnett has a 6.5 average while quarterback Dick Bartholomew has a 5.2 running average. The Bluffs backfield averages 165 pounds while the five man line carries a 163 pound average.

Hillman, the coach who has never lost a grid battle, has been well pleased with the showing a couple of new men who came out for football the first time this fall. Kesterson and Berry have played a lot of ball for the Bluejays in their first try at the gridiron sport. A couple more players high on Hillman's list are Raymond Likes, an end who has caught three TD passes, and G. Campbell, a lineman who leads the team in tackles.

This battle certainly should be the eight-man battle of the season and a lot will be at stake when the two clubs take the field. "Without a doubt Routt will be tough and we will definitely have to be on our toes," is the way the Bluffs coach sums it up.

Tommy Collins Scores TKO Over Bobby Why

BOSTON (AP)—Featherweight Tommy Collins, 129½, of Boston, scored the third straight victory of his boxing comeback campaign Tuesday night with a sixth round technical knockout over Bobby Why, 128½, Los Angeles, in their scheduled 10-rounder at Boston Arena.

Referee Jimmy McCarron awarded the bout to Collins when Why, who had been down for a nine count in the fifth round, was unable to come out for the sixth.

Chicago Cubs Sign Backstop

CHICAGO (AP)—Catcher Lorenzo Jackson, 21-year-old sophomore at Howard University in Washington, D.C., today was signed by the Chicago Cubs for their Three I League affiliate at Burlington, Iowa.

The 180-pound Negro speedster, who has been clocked in 35 for the 60-yard dash, batted .625 for Howard in the 1954 season and collected eight homers in 15 games.

He bails left-handed and throws right handed.

Turns Down Proposal

CHICAGO (AP)—A bout proposed by the International Boxing Club between Al Andrews, Superior, Wis., middleweight, and Rocky Casillo of Blue Island, Ill., Tuesday was turned down by the Illinois State Athletic Commission.

The commission said it felt "Casillo was not a suitable opponent." The IBC had proposed the bout for Nov. 10.

Andrews knocked out Gil Turner in his last start.

SCORES SECOND ACE

AIKEN, S.C.—Golfers J. C. Minnick of nearby Batesburg scored his second hole-in-one of the year when he aced a four iron shot on the 173-yard ninth hole of the Palmetto Golf Club course. His first hole-in-one was last Jan. 10 on the Aiken municipal course's 140-yard 16th hole.

Duck Prospects 'Only Fair' Along Illinois River

HAYANA, Ill. (AP)—Despite an increase of birds, prospects are "only fair" in the Illinois River Valley for the duck season opening Friday, a game specialist said today.

Frank Belrose, biologist for the Illinois Natural History Survey, estimated about 220,000 ducks are gathered in the valley, four times more than last week. But he said 60 per cent of the ducks are the diving variety—the kind that stay in the open water where hunters can't get to them.

High water in the Illinois Valley has chased out most of the teal, widgeons and mallards from shelter and Belrose said conditions probably won't improve until big mallard flights arrive.

Most of the ducks in upper Illinois are in corn fields between Henry and Hennepin, Belrose reported.

George Arthur, waterfowl biologist of the State Conservation Department, counted 15,900 Canada geese at Horseshoe Lake and the Union County Preserve in southern Illinois. Belrose said about 3,500 more Canada geese are in the state, mostly in the Illinois River Valley.

Open Campaign To Promote Casting At 1960 Olympics

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quiet campaign is being fought to right what its backers regard as a major wrong: the fact that the world's greatest participation sport, fishing, has no place in the Olympics.

Cliff Netherton, a Washington high school teacher who is one of the prime movers in the campaign, said Tuesday he and his co-workers are convinced they can build up enough support for international casting competition to get it into the 1960 Olympics.

"The Olympics are supposed to be concerned primarily with competition between individuals, but the trend has been going the other way," Netherton said. "We hope to reverse that trend."

Netherton said: "There are more than 40 million fishermen in the United States alone and more money is spent on fishing equipment than any other kind of sporting gear."

There have been international angling events for many years, Netherton said, but there never has been "the one big championship tournament."

So, he added, two years ago he and a group of Americans launched the International Casting Federation. Since then England, Australia, Scotland, Norway, Sweden and Holland have joined. West Germany, Canada and Denmark are expected to hook up with the federation shortly.

"We have two aims," Netherton said. "One is to get casting into the Olympics. The other is to codify casting rules and provide for a annual international tournament."

Norway has put in a bid for the first such tournament next year. It will follow by two months the 48th annual national tournament put on by the National Assn. of Angling and Casting Clubs in St. Louis Aug. 16-21. Netherton is a vice president of that association.

He said there are 182 angling clubs in this country and that about 10,000 men and women take part annually in casting tournaments.

He added, "Casting has never been much of a spectator sport. I don't know why, but it's true. We've got to do something to build it up as a spectator sport."

Man Who Batted .438, Hugh Duffy, Dies

BOSTON (AP)—Hugh Duffy, whose .438 batting average with the 1894 Boston National League baseball team never has been equaled, died Tuesday at his home.

He would have been 88 on Nov. 25.

In 60 years only four batsmen in the major leagues have come close to Duffy's record. Willie Keeler batted .432 in 1897, Rogers Hornsby .424 in 1924 and Ty Cobb and George Sisler each batted .420.

A junior-size powerhouse who stood 5 feet 7 and weighed 150, Duffy was elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1945. In 18 years in the major leagues, he not only set the batting mark on so high a pinnacle no one since has been able to reach it, but he also hit over .300 for 11 seasons and twice won the National League batting title. His lifetime batting average was .330.

After his unparalleled .438 batting performance, Duffy recalled he was paid a "magnificent" salary of $2,400.

He was an active scout for the Boston Red Sox of the American League through the 1953 season. Sox General Manager Joe Cronin said "not everybody recalls that Hughie was one of the founders of the American League. Manager

NEW YORK (AP)—Unbeaten teams and once-beaten but increasingly respected Army are making a mass assault on the top positions in major-college offense statistics, N.C.A.A. Service Bureau figures showed Tuesday.

Mississippi and Colorado, boasting five victories each, hold first place in total offense, rushing and passing, and coming up fast are Oklahoma, Boston U., U.C.L.A., Minnesota, and the Cadets, who have won three straight after an opening loss to South Carolina.

Mississippi took over the total offense lead from Colorado this week, bringing its average to 423.4 yards a game, as the Buffaloes dropped to third with 416 behind. Boston U.'s 418.8.

Mississippi also retained its aerial leadership, averaging 189.4 yards a game to Oregon's 184.6 with no one else within 20 yards.

And Colorado kept its grip on the top spot in rushing by a wide margin. It has made 368.8 yards a game on the ground, to 318.6 for Texas Tech and 292.5 for third-place Army. The Cadets moved up from 11th place, but behind them Oklahoma jumped into fourth from 35th. U.C.L.A. to 7th from 13th and Minnesota to 8th from 18th.

Football Briefs

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Rudy Siegent, who has been sidelined with a gashed leg, returned to Illinois football practices Tuesday to bolster the tackle department, one of the team's weakest spots.

Also back in action to add depth at guard are George Walsh, who has been nursing a knee injury, and Dave Walker, out with an infected wrist.

Mike Guinan, No. 2 center, still is shelved with an arm injury, and end Gary Grancis is on the doubtful list with a sprained foot.

The Illini scrimmaged on defense Tuesday against Syracuse formations.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern Coach Bob Voight announced Tuesday that Dale Pienta will be the starting quarterback against Pitt Saturday.

Voight stressed, however, that both John Reardon and Sophomore Jack Ellis will see action as quarterbacks.

The team scrimmaged against the frosh without fullback Bob Lauter. Lauter injured his shoulder in the Michigan game but will be ready to play against Pitt.

NEW YORK (AP)—In that we moved the Athletics to Kansas City in a moment of general confusion it's only fair that we move them back to Philadelphia, making the shortest round trip of a franchise on record.

The A's, it now generally is known, were taken over by a group of eight Philadelphia business men, plus Roy Mack, who is sticking by the ship and putting back some of the money he got for his stock so he can be a partner in the new organization and keep the Mack name on the letterhead.

We can only say we can appreciate the disappointment of Arnold Johnson and the Kansas City residents. Johnson, a prospective purchaser, thought he had the deal all set, and was going to move the franchise to the Missouri City.

His assumption seemed reasonable enough in that several months ago a "Save the A's" campaign was conducted in Philadelphia, and nobody galleped up with pockets bulging with vulgar money and eyes gleaming with civic pride.

There seemed to be one concrete offer to buy the club, the bid coming from the drug store magnate Harry Sytk and financier Albert Greenfield, but nothing came of it.

Anyway, it now appears the new group was just slow in making up its mind but when it did, it went into action. None too soon, either, as Roy Mack had to give a decision by 11 a. m. Monday.

The new owners it is assumed, know what they have on their hands, and a spokesman said that as business men they were not in the habit of losing money, and would operate the club on a business basis, a plan which would surprise the Supreme Court, which had ruled baseball a sport.

It also was mentioned that there would be enough loose money to hire a top general manager and a top field manager, which may or may not be a threat to Eddie Joost's job, depending upon how he is rated as a field manager by the new owners.

It will take more than a top general manager and a top field manager to lure the fans to the park, however. It's going to take some first class players, and first class players, unless raised on its own farms by the club itself, come high.

If there is enough money to buy up some top athletes, fine. If there isn't, and they must be developed in a revamped farm system, it will take time.

And realizing that the A's drew only 323,000 customers this year, the club doesn't figure to increase that annual total by much until the fans can watch a better baseball team.

We can only admire the members of the syndicate for their civic pride, and Roy Mack for his tenacity. He has held out all along against a transfer to another city, backing his brother Earle in the process.

They are prepared to lose a half million dollars, although they don't anticipate such a loss. They obviously have faith in the patience of the Philadelphia fans, and all you can do is wish them luck.

Meanwhile, Clark Griffith is happy. Baltimore will remain a western club and not play in conflict with his Washington home games.

TEXAS IS TINY

TEXAS, N. J. (AP)—No oil, no cotton, and no great wide open spaces. Just a little community of 100 people or so living in rural part of Madison Township—that's Texas, N. J.

You'll find it on some maps. It's in Middlesex county, about 30 miles southwest of New York City.

Nobody hereabouts knows exactly how the hamlet, or the road by the same name running through it, got their names.

Two Injured In Wreck On Pittsfield Square

PITTSFIELD—Mrs. Lewis Rowe and her daughter, Mrs. Irl Robinson, were injured in a collision which occurred at 4:30 p. m. at the south east corner of the public square.

The two women were taken to Illinois hospital where Mrs. Robinson had stitches taken in a scalp wound, and Mrs. Rowe had stitches in her arm. Both were bruised and suffered from shock. They were released after surgery.

COMMUNITY CHEST

At a kick-off meeting held Tuesday morning at the Dunlap hotel, the campaign for the Morgan County Community Chest was officially launched.

Jewell A. Mann, chairman of the drive, called attention to the fact that the goal of $44,560 is necessary to meet the needs of eight participating agencies in the Chest. "The amount needed this year is 7% more than was raised last year," he said. "The fate of our agencies lies in your hands."

Agencies included in this year's Chest Campaign are: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Catholic Youth Organization, Community Council, Salvation Army, Illinois Heart Association and the Travelers Aid.

"The important thing to remember," Mann stated, "is that you are asking for contributions for eight agencies, not just one."

Several hundred men and women throughout the county will help contact the public and raise funds. The campaign has been organized into divisions and teams.

'Prevention Not Cure' Delinquency Problem

"We've always had delinquency, and as society gets more complicated and people live closer together, delinquency increases," Judge Paul Fenstermaker, county judge, told members of the Child Welfare Advisory Board at their monthly meeting, Monday noon, at the Dunlap hotel.

"The court tries to keep from giving a boy or girl a court record if it possibly can," Judge Fenstermaker said in discussing family court procedure.

"The complaint on a boy or girl may come to us through one of many channels such as the police department, the probation officer, of the child welfare office. In any case, an investigation is made and every effort is made to solve the problem presented in the best way for the child, the school, and the public."

"If adjudication is deemed necessary, the youth may be removed from the custody of his parents and placed in that of the probation officer, the child welfare office, foster parents, or the Youth Commission."

"Delinquency usually starts with truancy and proceeds to petty thefts which become more and more serious," he said in tracing the progress of delinquency. "A lack of respect for superiors and for law enforcement officers is also exhibited. This lack of respect for superiors may have something to do with the increased difficulty delinquents encounter in trying to enter the armed services—a boy with a court record now finds it almost impossible to be accepted."

"The prevention of delinquency rather than its cure is what we must think about," Judge Fenstermaker said in conclusion.

Fred Bailey, vice chairman of the board presided at the meeting and Mrs. Paul Vanlier, program chairman, introduced Judge Fenstermaker.

Mrs. Russell Armstrong, who is in charge of the local office for Child Welfare Services, asked that the next meeting be held on the fourth, Monday, Nov. 22, instead of the usual third Monday, in order that the Miss Naomi Hiett of Springfield, executive secretary of the Illinois Commission on Children and Youth, may be the speaker.

Boy Scouts Need Help Received By Chest Donations

When a prospective donor to the Community Chest asks what his money will be spent for in Morgan county the following organizations are listed as recipients: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, YMCA, CYO, Illinois Heart Association, Community Council and the Travelers Aid.

There has been a consolidation of the groups since the public balked at contributing to so many different campaigns for funds and concentration was made for one big drive, the Morgan County Community Chest.

The Boy Scouts receive a goodly portion of this fund and without such support could not provide the character building programs offered in Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer units. The training teaches the youth in the community to live in the out-of-doors, be self-reliant and practice self control and cooperation with others.

Scouting in the area has been under the district leadership of Clarendon Smith and Robert Caldwell, district chairman and district commissioner, respectively. Tom Walker is the resident executive supervising the district program and upholding the policies of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

One of the future highlights for the local Scout program is the annual potluck banquet to be held Monday, Oct. 25, in the Veterans Dining Hall at the Jacksonville State Hospital. This will be attended by all Cubs, Scouts, Explorers, their leaders, parents and friends. The meeting starts at 6:30 promptly with the serving of the meal to be followed by a planned and interesting program. The interested public is also cordially invited to attend.

Official Recommends Improvements For Light System, Plant

Recommendations for rehabilitating the street lighting distribution system and for improvements at the municipal generating plant, including arresters to protect it from lightning, were submitted to the light committee and city council Monday night by N. J. Butler, superintendent of the Water, Light & Sewer Departments.

Butler has just finished a survey of requirements he believes the distribution system and plant need to put them into efficient shape. He suggested that the council come to a definite policy as to allocation of expense and maintenance and operation of the ornamental street lighting system, as to what items should be charged to the general fund and what items should be charged to the electric department.

Butler's report to the light committee and council follows:

"During the past several weeks I have made a very intensive study of the electric property of the City of Jacksonville and I wish to report on conditions which I consider hazardous to both service and equipment, together with my suggestions and recommendations for correction."

Distribution System "Tree clearance" along entire overhead distribution system is such that tree limbs and branches are in direct contact with primary, secondary and are circuits causing considerable burning and arcing, as well as losses in electricity due to such.

Due to over-hanging limbs and branches a very serious and lengthy interruption of service could result if a steel storm would occur prior to adequate clearing of the circuits.

"In order to provide adequate and proper tree clearance we have initiated a tree trimming program with our own organization and the work is now underway. This will take a considerable period of time but it is hoped that sufficient time can be spent on this work to provide adequate clearance before bad weather arrives."

"Transformer capacity in many instances is too small and secondary runs are much too long in several areas. Several of the cases have been corrected and more are in the planning stage. Those changes made so far have greatly improved voltage regulation."

"While we have on file many applications for service, connections are only being made when after investigation it is determined we can supply adequate service. Those requests for service where it requires substantial changes in our facilities, are being deferred for the time."

"The main underground circuit from the generating plant which consists of 3-750,000 C. M. Neoprene covered cables, is temporarily connected to the bus structure in the distribution sub-station with each conductor laying on the floor of the sub-station in coils. It has also been determined that the apparent loss in this underground circuit under load with a power factor of 70% is approximately 198 volts.

Some of this loss is due to installation and the condition referred to above. This loss of voltage in the feeder circuit means that the 10% regulators now in service at the distribution sub-station are practically at full boost at maximum load, providing little or no regulation on the out-going overhead circuits."

"Current transformers and meters on all overhead circuits leaving the distribution sub-station are too small. Larger current transformers for the circuits are laying on the floor of the building and should be installed immediately and meters and relays recalibrated after installation."

"The 1200 amp. 3 pole disconnecting switch now laying in the yard should be placed on the angle iron frame work which has been fabricated for use in mounting the disconnect."

"An estimate of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) has been received from Jameson Electric Company to complete the work in connection with the above."

"The above conditions are applying to the unsafe conditions existing at the distribution sub-station should be corrected prior to the winter load coming on."

Generating Plant "An investigation was made to determine if some protection could be provided to avoid the frequent lightning surges which in the past have caused considerable damage and expense as well as interruptions to service."

"On the overhead circuits coming into the generating plant it does not appear that adequate lightning protection has been provided."

"To properly protect the generators as well as perhaps avoid damage to the bus structure in case of a flash-over due to a lightning surge by which a power arc is established, I am of the opinion the best protection can be provided by connecting on the load side of each machine breaker, one 3 pole station type capacitor in parallel with 3 station type lightning arresters. In addition to this, suitable arresters to be located immediately outside of the plant on the terminal pole of each circuit and additional arresters installed on the overhead circuits at a distance of approximately 1500 feet from the plant. The purpose of this being that the 1500 feet of line acts as an inductance to reduce surges coming into the generating plant."

"In addition to this hazard there are two overhead circuits, identified as the Water Works circuit and circuit No. 1, connected temporarily in the plant and which run through windows of the plant to the outside where they are connected to the overhead lines. This condition presents a serious hazard to service as well as to equipment in case of a lightning surge of severe intensity."

"The above condition can be corrected by renewing the cable in the conduit extending from the plant to the terminal pole located at the southwest corner of the plant which would eliminate the present temporary circuit running through a window, the condition which was created at the time of the failure of the underground cable."

"The other circuit will require the extension of a duct line from a manhole on the east side of the plant to the terminal pole and a new cable from the plant to the terminal pole."

"An estimate of cost for materials and labor in correcting the above hazards is three thousand dollars ($3,000.00)."

"There is remaining in the electric construction account an amount of two thousand five hundred sixty-two dollars and seventy-nine cents ($2,562.79) which could be applied toward the cost of correcting the hazards referred to, the remainder being paid from operating revenue."

Street Lighting

"In several sections of the City of Jacksonville the ornamental street lighting is in a deteriorated condition, many of the ornamental poles being fed from overhead wires between poles due to failure of the underground cables. Several of the poles are leaning, some are broken, presenting an unsightly appearance in some of the better residential areas. Overhead intersection fixtures are hanging so that improper lighting is provided at the intersection."

"There are several lights in the west side of town which are still out of service due to the street improvement program. But all others have been put in service with the exception of the circuit in the vicinity of MacMurray College. This circuit has been out of service for a period of time due to the main feed being destroyed during a street improvement program. Some work has been done on this circuit and it is expected this will be back in service within a couple of weeks."

"The street lighting circuits have been very poorly maintained and a very definite schedule of maintenance and operation should be developed in order to provide better lighting throughout the city."

"There are numerous concrete and cast-iron lighting standards still in place after being replaced by a new system of lighting that present a rather unsightly appearance and should be taken down and the surface where the poles set restored to its original condition."

"It is suggested that a definite policy be established by the City Council as to allocation of expense of maintenance and operation as there presently appears to be some questions as to just what items should be charged to the general fund and what items of expense be charged to the Electric Department."

Respectfully submitted, N. J. Butler, Managing Superintendent
